

THE NEW MINI 3-DOOR HATCH.

DO THINGS DIFFERENTLY. AGAIN.

How do you go about inventing an icon like the MINI? According to its designer, Sir Alec Issigonis, you simply do things differently to everybody else. We've been doing things differently for generations and the MINI range just goes to show that while you can't go past an original, you can keep the essence of a good thing and make it even better.

When you take a huge step forward it offers a great view of the past, and it's a past we're proud of thanks to John Cooper who revolutionised racing in the 1950s. His tireless commitment to racing led to such milestones as a legendary MINI Bathurst victory in 1966 and three Monte Carlo Rally wins to name but a few.

Reinventing an icon like MINI is no easy task. You have to create a vehicle that exceeds the demands of twenty-first century driving, while remaining true to the original. Of course, you'll find some things never go out of fashion, like the MINI DNA – low centre of gravity, short wheelbase and legendary go-kart handling, eye-catching lines and a distinctive profile, all finished off with a touch of chrome.

The latest generation of MINIs are as unmistakably modern as the originals. From the classic Hatch and convention-defying Countryman SUV, right through to the versatile Clubman and open top Convertible, every member of the MINI family is ready to take on any adventure.

THE ORIGINAL MINI REBORN.

Who said you can't improve on the original?
Welcome to the new MINI 3-Door Hatch.
There's plenty to discover, so make yourself comfortable, settle in and take a good look around.
